Committee's narrative:

We met once each quarter, and the main issues we dealt with were 1) the ESL task force's proposal to switch ESL instruction from Linguistics to UWP; 2) a review of workload writing and math courses (reports from Cynthia Bates and Andrew Waldron); 3) the increase of international students, esp coming via community colleges, who will be needing ESL writing support, at a time when the support budget looks as though it will be cut; 4) concerns about transfer-student achievement and whether, or what kinds of, support might be needed
