Planning & Budget

October 18, 2010 12:00 PM

The Committee on Planning and Budget has reviewed the subject proposal. The committee is unanimous in believing this proposal represents a good example of the information we need to evaluate and respond to proposals for new professional fee programs. We would encourage you to use this as a guide to future schools interested in developing a similar proposal.

The committee did note that the development phase is based upon use of existing faculty. Basically, the teaching is done through faculty overload. While we understand this is a new program and the school needs time to develop the programs and secure the resources for hiring new faculty, we strongly encourage Graduate Council to be vigilant in assuring the program is growing at the expected rate and that four years following implementation proper resources are in place to assure long-term success.
