PPM 240-50 - General Policy Human Research

November 8, 2013

The document represents a major revision; describes the policies governing human research, including the oversight authority and responsibilities of the Institutional Review Board (IRB), and the responsibilities and requirements of Investigators engaged in human research.

The L&S Executive Committee found only one thing clearly objectionable in the document: We could not tell what "if applicable" means in IV, C, #3. We contacted Molly Theodossy for clarification, and she forwarded our request to the "policy owner" (whatever that means), and we have not received a response. In short: Hold the presses until "if applicable" is clarified. Once it's clarified, we might support the document or not, depending on what "if applicable" means when it is clarified.
